

HUSBAND AND WIFE FIGHT DUEL; HE USES RAZOR, SHE SCISSORS

IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ACTS OF WHOLE COMPANY Glass' Defense Builds Argument on Well- Known Legal Objections to 'Sim- ilar Offenses.'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The trial of Louis Glass, the indicted telephone official charged with bribery of supervisors, was continued at 10:45 this morning in Judge Lawlor's court with Attorney Coogan's argument supporting the objections of the defense to the admission of the testimony of Supervisor Loneragan.

The defense is building its argument on the well-known legal objections to the admissibility of evidence of "similar offenses."

After an hour of citing various cases from penal procedure Attorney Coogan closed his argument in which he prayed that Judge Lawlor would not allow the admissibility of doubtful evidence to the jury.

His closing words were that Glass

TAKES POISON; WOULD DIE ON GRAVE OF PET MAGILL Former Sweetheart of Accused Capitalist Attempts Suicide—His Wife's Body Is Exhumed.

CLINTON, Ill., July 18.—Mrs. Mabel Parrett, said to be an old sweetheart of Fred H. Magill, who with his bride is a prisoner at San Diego, Cal., on a murder charge, was found unconscious last night on the grave of Mrs. Pet Magill, his alleged victim.

She had taken strychnine, and despite the efforts of physicians who are working over her, her attempt at suicide may be successful. The young woman was sometimes known under the name of Lillian Ryan.

The woman has not been living with her husband for several months. It is alleged that the cause of the separation was Fred Magill's attentions to her.

Mrs. Parrett is 22 years old, and handsome. Late in the night it was announced by the attending physician that she has a chance to recover, although her condition is critical.

WIFE'S BODY EXHUMED.

The body of Mrs. Magill was exhumed last night. Over two hours were consumed in the task, which was performed by two professional grave diggers. They were watched over by eight doctors, among whom were two specialists from Chicago.

The two Chicago specialists carried back with them in large jars all the vital organs of the body of Pet Magill.

TAYLOR ON HUNT FOR DESIRABLE SUPERVISORS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Mayor Taylor is devoting all his time at present to the selection of a new Board of Supervisors. That he has already secured the names of a number of prominent citizens for the new board he acknowledges, but he will not at present reveal their identity.

He has been in consultation with a number of men representing the commercial interests of the city, but says that in his appointment he is not accepting the advice of anyone in particular, and is merely endeavoring to learn as much as possible about the available material.

"It is a big task," said Dr. Taylor this morning, "but it is paramount to every other one at present, and I shall devote most of my time to it. There is not only the difficulty of selecting men who will be satisfactory to the people, but also that of persuading these men to accept. The men who are the most reluctant are the most desirable. They have other business, and it is necessary to persuade them to sacrifice this for the public welfare."

"I cannot at present discuss what I am accomplishing. I must first complete the work."

The new Mayor has not yet secured the official automobile. He uses a Winton of the same color as the machine driven by Ex-Mayor Schmitz. The chauffeur boasts that he can beat the official machine on every stretch of the road, and urges that if the new administration wants to capture the official machine, it will be an easy matter for him to catch it anywhere on the Ingleside road.

JAPANESE POACHERS ARE CAPTURED WITH THE GOODS

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The State Department has been informed that the revenue cutter Manning, on July 15, captured two Japanese fishing schooners, the Nitta Maru and the Kalm, near the boat landing within about a mile of the seal island of St. Paul. Both of the vessels were fully equipped for sealing and there were evidences that they had been plying their craft in the shape of fresh seal skins in the small boats.

The seized vessels were taken to Unalaska and left in charge of the United States Marshal. The crews were taken aboard the Manning and conveyed to Unga, in charge of a United States Marshal, where they will be tried before a United States court on a charge of violating the seal regulations.

The Japanese embassy has been notified by the State Department, but as the case appears to be an ordinary one of poaching it is not expected that any diplomatic incidents will result.

CHAMPAGNES AND CIGARS ARE 'DECKHANDS' SPOIL

The discovery that robbery on a large scale has been practiced systematically by employees of the Southern Pacific freight boats and boats was disclosed this morning when Joseph Morrell, Frank Hammerberg, Frank Viera, Gustave Blank and M. R. Moushe were charged in the Police Court with petty larceny.

Nearly a year past thefts of varying size have been called to the attention of the railroad detectives. The Southern Pacific sleuths set to work on the case some time ago, with the result that the five men above were taken into custody yesterday by Railroad Detective Morgan and Kell

Search warrants were secured and a big collection of miscellaneous plunder was recovered in the rooms of the suspects. Among the articles found by the searchers were several cases of champagne, cognac, costly cigars and numerous articles of clothing.

It is believed that the accused men have been accumulating the stolen goods for many months. The railroad officials say that their method of obtaining booty was to break into freight cars while they were being carried across the bay. All of the accused men are deckhands on the transport. They pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against them this morning and sentence will be pronounced in their case tomorrow.

They were later identified by Sanarroy as the men who attacked him.

The hospital physicians now expect all but Cruse to recover.

WOMAN THREATENS TO KILL FATHER-IN-LAW AND MOTHER-IN-LAW

CHARLES KUCHS, JR.

Prevents Wife From Doing Murder

Armed with a loaded revolver, Mrs. Nellie Kuchs, wife of Charles Kuchs, formerly manager of the Empire Theatre of Oakland, last night threatened to murder her father-in-law, Charles Kuch Sr., and his wife at their residence on Twelfth street.

That murder was not done is due to the prompt action of Charles Kuchs Jr., who disarmed his wife just as she was removing the revolver from her hand satchel.

Prevented from carrying out her threat, Mrs. Kuchs was arrested a few minutes later by Policeman Holmberg, who was summoned to the family residence of Kuch Sr. The woman was taken to the city prison, where she remained in custody, no complaint having been made against her up to the present time.

KILLED GAMBLER.

Several months ago Kuchs Jr. shot and killed Ed Ferrell, a gambler, in Nevada because of the attention paid his wife by Ferrell. The "unwritten law" was in vogue in the trial of Kuchs with the result that he was sentenced to but eighteen months in the Nevada State Penitentiary.

Mrs. Kuchs, on the witness stand, testified that Ferrell made her drink great quantities of liquor and thus kept her in his power. It was brought out at the trial that just before he shot Ferrell, Kuchs said: "You have ruined my home. I am going to shoot you," and with that he shot Ferrell, receiving several wounds from Ferrell's gun in return.

GETS FREEDOM.

After being sentenced, Kuchs donned convict stripes. His father, however, visited Governor Sparks, of Nevada, and the Board of Pardon, and made a plea for his son's release. Eleven of the twelve men composing the jury which convicted him, recommended a pardon for Kuchs, and this, together with other evidence submitted, resulted in his being freed from the penitentiary.

Kuchs Jr. has in his possession jewelry belonging to his wife, and it was to secure the possession of the valuables that she killed at the family residence last night. It is said by the Kuchs family that she was intoxicated and in no condition to discuss the return of the jewelry or the future of herself and husband.

KIND TO HIS WIFE.

"I have always been kind to my wife," said Charles Kuchs, "and despite all the trouble she has caused me, I have nothing but sympathy for her."

TELEGRAPHERS REJECT ALL CONCESSIONS BY COMPANIES

WEST OAKLAND, July 18.—By a standing vote the concessions made by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies were rejected by the striking telegraphers this morning at the regular union meeting called in Sunset Hall.

The Western Union officers tried to take the union on the premises. The Postal proposed to reinstate eighty per cent of the operators. Both companies were willing to give the strikers all they asked for and 25 per cent in wages after going back to work. The company stated that they would consult with the eastern officials with regard to accepting the proposition of the union of increasing the wages after the telegraphers were at work.

The telegraphers refused all concessions and President Small this afternoon mailed to headquarters at Chicago the result of the vote. The meeting adjourned until tomorrow.

Georgia Explosion From 'Flare Back'

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The naval court of inquiry in the case of the explosion upon the Georgia will find that the accident resulted from a "flare-back" meaning that when the breach of the eight-inch gun was thrown open after it had been discharged, some shreds of burning cloth or unconsumed gas was driven into the turret and upon the powder about to be inserted for the next charge.

Man Is Badly Wounded, Woman Escapes Unhurt, Furniture Demolished

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Battling back and forth in a small room at 737 McAllister street, Ben Warren and his wife fought a bloody duel this morning. He was armed with a razor, while she wielded a pair of scissors.

The terrific struggle of the couple in an effort to murder each other resulted in the wounding of the husband and the partial demolishment of the furniture in the apartment.

A messenger boy rushed into the Central Emergency Hospital shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, and to the officer on duty there said that murder was being done at 737 McAllister street. A patrolman was dispatched to the scene, and when he arrived he found Warren and his wife fighting their bloody duel.

The husband was attempting to slash the throat of his wife with the razor, while she was defending herself with the scissors.

When the policeman separated the combatants, he found Warren was severely wounded above the left lung, the injury being caused by the scissors in the hands of the woman.

Warren was arrested and taken to the hospital for treatment, and then, as his wife refused to prosecute him, he was allowed to go.

"EARTHQUAKE" BUILDING IS SEETHING FURNACE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—A fire broke out this morning at 10:40 o'clock in the barn of the Edglander warehouse and drayage company on Harrison street, between Fourth and Fifth. Twenty horses and fifteen wagons that were in the building at the time were taken out, and everything that was movable was gotten away before the fire had assumed much headway.

Three alarms were turned in and when the engines arrived a spectacular conflagration was seen. The men under the command of Chief Shaughnessy and himself, got quickly to work and soon had eight lines of water on the structure. The building was one of those put up immediately after the big fire and was constructed of corrugated iron.

LIKE BIG FURNACE.

During the progress of the fire the iron became heated and the place for a time was a veritable furnace. One of the battalion chiefs had a narrow escape from injury when a piece of iron fell from the roof to the sidewalk passing within three inches of his head.

It is not definitely known how the fire started. Conflicting stories are told, some saying that it originated from a spark caused by the crossing of electric wires, while others maintain that a cigarette dropped in a hay pile started it.

Mr. H. F. Edglander was on the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in, but said that he could form no reliable estimate of his loss, but as the horses and wagons had been saved he thought that $4000 would repair the building. This loss is partially covered by insurance.

IMPALED UPON SPOKES OF WRECKED AUTOMOBILE

NEW YORK, July 18.—While running along at an express train speed, two automobiles filled with merry-makers returning from Coney Island, crashed head-on early today upon the dimly lighted ocean park way, and as a consequence one man is dead and two others are fatally injured. The dead man, Thos. F. Donovan, of New York, was impaled upon the spokes of his own machine. The injured are Chapman Ropes, of Morristown, N. J., and an unidentified man.

Donovan's machine carried no lights. Running along at sixty miles an hour, Donovan determined to take the outside of the road. He did not see Chapman Ropes, driving a powerful machine, approaching in an opposite direction and running about forty miles an hour. The two machines were upon one another before their drivers realized what had happened.

The crash reduced the machines to scrap iron. Donovan was thrown from his machine and the spokes of a broken wheel pierced his breast. Ropes and his companion were found beneath the wreckage. Donovan died in the hospital and the physicians say that two of the injured will probably die. A third automobile which came flying along the avenue immediately after the accident, nearly collided with the wrecked machines.

HAS GOOD TIME WITHOUT MONEY; LANDS IN JAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Henry Hurd, who lives in Berkeley, hired an automobile last night and visited several resorts around town. After he was through with his good time, he found that he lacked the $5 to pay the chauffeur, and he told the man that he had a check for $175, but he had no cash on his person.

The chauffeur, however, refused to wait for his money until today and calling Policeman McGorby, had Hurd taken into custody and he was charged at the city prison with defrauding an automobile driver.

When the case was called in Judge Shortall's court this morning, Hurd satisfied the Judge of his ability and willingness to pay, and was allowed to go.

Great indignation is felt against the chauffeur for his treatment of the man, who had evidently had good intentions of paying him, and who was forced to spend the night in jail because of the lack of ready cash.

KOREAN MINISTERS RESIGN

SEOUL, July 18.—The cabinet ministers, including the newly appointed household minister have resigned.

It is reported that the emperor was very angry at his ministers on account of their having advised him to abdicate. He said to them, that he occupied the throne by right inherited from his ancestors, and that his subjects had no authority to advise his dethronement, much less to do so with the support of foreigners.

Marquis Ito, in compliance with the emperor's urgent desire to see him, even for a short time, proceeded to the palace this afternoon.

COMMITTS SUICIDE BY WILD LEAP FROM SWIFT TRAIN

LIVERMORE, Alameda County, July 18.—Suffering from an incurable disease, out of work and his money nearly gone, Steve Stollch, aged 31 years, unmarried, committed suicide this morning by leaping from a fast moving local train about two miles west of here. He struck on his head and was instantly killed.

The badly mangled body was found by two surveyors who notified the coroner's office. Stollch had been working in this vicinity for several years as a vineyardist. He contracted an incurable disease and for the past few months was unable to work. His small savings gradually became exhausted and he hinted to friends that when his money was gone he wished he might die. Last night he appeared about town particularly despondent. About 6 o'clock this morning he purchased a ticket for Oakland and boarded the local train and it is supposed that he planned to jump from the train to his death.

AFFECTING FUNERAL OF LATE LUDWIG NUSBAUMER

Sympathy for Bereaved Parents and the Solemnity of Services Move Many People to Tears.

The funeral of Ludwig Nusbaumer, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nusbaumer of this city, who was accidentally killed while hunting in the mountains near his parents' summer home at Castella, Shasta county, in this State, took place this morning at 11 o'clock, the remains being incinerated in Oakland crematory.

The remains were borne at 10:30 o'clock from the funeral parlors of E. James Finney, 528 Eighteenth street, to the crematory and were escorted thither by the bereaved parents, the immediate relatives and a number of the close friends of the family.

A wealth of floral pieces, tributes of love and esteem for the deceased and sympathy with the stricken parents over the loss of their only child, had preceded the cortege and the tender and beautiful designs were artistically arranged in the chapel of the institution and tended, in a measure, to relieve the overwrought feelings alike of friends and relatives.

The casket, richly trimmed with silver, was almost completely concealed beneath a pall of white carnations, while to the right was prominently displayed the green and yellow shield of the Kappa Alpha Beta fraternity of Elliott School at Menlo Park, of which organization the deceased had been a member. The border of this shield was of ferns, the ground being of yellow, a myriad of golden marguerites entering into its formation and, upon this, in pink carnations were outlined the initials of the name of the order, "K. A. B."

MANY ARE PRESENT.
The chapel was filled with people, all of whom had long known the parents and most of them had known the deceased almost from infancy.

While the mourners were assembling a voluntary pianissimo was played upon the organ.

Rev. C. H. Hobart, of the Calvary Baptist Church, ascended the dais and conducted the service.

THE SERVICES.
The clergy read with appreciation the usual psalm for mortuary ceremonies, containing the expression, "Oh, death, where is thy sting; oh, grave, where is thy victory?"

The Golden Gate Quartet, comprising Frank Onslow, Carl E. Anderson, J. de P. Teller and Henry L. Peller, in a hidden recess, sang "Lead Kindly Light" in a tenderly sympathetic manner. There was a strangely affecting plaintiveness in the voices of the unseen singers, and in an instant the eyes of almost every lady became suffused with tears. Indeed, not a few of the sterner sex were obliged to retire from the chapel to conceal visible evidence of their emotion.

Dr. Hobart then offered a prayer which was carefully worded, especially when he besought divine comfort for the parents, who had been rudely bereft of all that they held dear in life.

The quartet then sang "Good Night" in perfect tone and sincere sympathy with the words.

The clergyman then committed the remains to earth and the services were closed by the quartet's singing "Near-er, My God, to Thee."

The chapel was then deserted by all save the family of the deceased and then a last farewell was taken of the deceased.

THE PALL-BEARERS.

The pall-bearers were Howard Metcalf, Carl Whitmore, E. K. Meredith, Adolph Ehrhorn, Herbert Stein and Lionel Barneson, all schoolmates of the young man who had passed away.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT.

Among those present were the following: Walter J. Mathews, Thomas Crawford, Charles Butler, George W. Reed, A. F. Schmeer, Sheriff Frank Barnett, Welles Whitmore, Dr. Henry Travers, Hart H. THREATENS TO KILL COUPLE her now. My wife claims that I have jewelry valued at $500 belonging to her. It is true I have her jewelry, but the value is less than $100.

"When she came to the house last night and demanded the return of her property, I asked her to come back when she was in a better frame of mind, and that I would give it to her. I do not want to keep it away from her, and I will gladly return the jewelry to my wife if she will promise to let matters drop.

"I have had enough trouble and want to get along peaceably. When my wife came to the house last night, she was in no fit condition to discuss our affairs. She called my mother and father vile names and threatened to kill them.

WIFE HAS REVOLVER.

"Early in the day I was informed that my wife had a revolver and so last night when she opened her hand satchel and brought forth the gun, at the same time threatening to do murder, I sprang to her side and wrested the weapon from her grasp. I examined it and found it to be fully loaded, and so kept it in my possession.

My father summoned an officer and caused the arrest of my wife. I do not know whether the charges will be pressed or not. For my part, I have had enough trouble and want to be let alone. As I said before, I am willing to let my wife have everything belonging to her if she will only cease her now.

"The hopeful parent believes that the state officials will not vote to see Charles Kuchs remain in prison to serve the remainder of a fifteen months' term. The poverty of the wife and her desire to be near her husband, even though she had to support herself in the capital town by working in the Arlington hotel dining room under an assumed name, will be explained, and the prisoner's falling health will be referred to.

"Kuchs killed Ed Ferrell with the simple warning: 'You have ruined my home. I am going to shoot you.' The victim staggered through the front door of the place where he was dealing craps, and fell dead in the street.

causing myself and family trouble and such scenes as occurred last night." The young wife of Kuchs called at THE TRIBUNE office yesterday afternoon and requested that the following clippings from two Nevada papers be published:

"Left alone in the world and with no one to support her since her husband was committed to the State's prison for eighteen months because he killed Ed Ferrell, a gambler in this city, Mrs. Charles Kuchs has proudly adopted her maiden name, and has sought employment as a waitress. Last week, until her identity became known, she was connected with the Arlington hotel in Carson City, and every few days would make trips to the penitentiary and visit with the man whose life she ruined.

"Mrs. Kuchs is a pretty little woman, a brunette. In her demure, modest way she asked the proprietor of the Arlington if she could procure a position during the legislative session. The permission was granted, and although she had experienced but three weeks' labor of the kind, she was hired for $14 a week and board. Later the work became too strenuous for the convict's wife, and she resigned.

WIFE GIVES TESTIMONY.

"Mrs. Kuchs, who testified on the witness stand in her husband's favor, is now making an effort to have him deliver to her jewelry she says he took from her after the fatal shooting. The same, she says are worth a large sum, and if proven would keep her comfortable during the period when Kuchs is in the prison. However, the slayer of Ferrell refuses to give up the stones, saying she can wait."

"The other clipping reads: "By signing a petition asking the state board of pardons to release from the penitentiary Charles Kuchs, who killed Ed Ferrell, the jury that convicted him of the crime has shown that it respects the 'unwritten law,' the law of the people, and when the pardoning body meets tomorrow the petition will be presented.

"Kuch's father passed through Reno yesterday on his way to Carson to make the plea for freedom. All the circumstances connected with the shooting last November in the Palace saloon, the trouble leading up to it and the condition of the frenzied husband's mind when he heard his wife's story of how she had been wronged, are ready for presentation to Governor Sparks, Attorney General Stoddard and Warden Day.

"The hopeful parent believes that the state officials will not vote to see Charles Kuchs remain in prison to serve the remainder of a fifteen months' term. The poverty of the wife and her desire to be near her husband, even though she had to support herself in the capital town by working in the Arlington hotel dining room under an assumed name, will be explained, and the prisoner's falling health will be referred to.

"Kuchs killed Ed Ferrell with the simple warning: 'You have ruined my home. I am going to shoot you.' The victim staggered through the front door of the place where he was dealing craps, and fell dead in the street.

DARROW IN IMPASSIONED SPEECH SCORES DETECTIVES

Haywood Testimony in and Defense Opens Attack on Mine Owners and Their "Hired Thugs."

BOISE, Idaho, July 18.—The evidence is all in. Analysis and argument begins tomorrow and within the next seven days the fate of William D. Haywood will rest with the jury. The session this morning was given up to Clarence Darrow, who in behalf of Haywood argued that the showing of the deposition from Cripple Creek during the strike period and the connection of the Pinkerton detectives should be allowed to go to the jury. Darrow reviewed the Colorado situation. He charged the mine owners and the detectives with planning a fake wreck on the Florence and Cripple Creek railway; with blowing up the Independence depot and with fostering riot and disorder through hired thugs. Darrow was impassioned and hurled invective without stint at the detectives and at Orchard. "We closed with a whirlwind appeal for the right to show a conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners. Senator Borah will reply to Darrow's argument this afternoon.

The defense in the Haywood case rested immediately after court opened this morning and without calling a single witness in rebuttal. Judge Wood announced that the opening argument for the state to the jury would be made tomorrow morning by Attorney James H. Hawley.

The jury was not brought into court today, the day being given over to the consideration of instructions to be given the twelve men who have the life of the defendant in their hands. On this subject Judge Wood heard the views of opposing counsel, who were requested to give their opinions as to the materiality of the evidence showing deportations and the employment of detectives by the mine owners and citizens of Colorado.

Clarence Darrow was the first to speak today. His speech was preceded by a brief announcement on the part of Senator Borah that the state would not oppose the striking out of that part of Harry Orchard's testimony which dealt with his talk to Steve Adams and Pettibone as to Adams going into Northern Idaho and "getting rid of some 'claim jumpers'." Judge Wood called attention to this testimony yesterday and indicated that he did not believe it had been connected in any way with the defendant, Haywood.

TOO LATE TO RIGHT WRONG.
"We objected to that testimony when it was admitted," declared Darrow for the defense, "and we do not think striking it out now will right any wrong that was done by it. We will not ask that it be stricken out."

"But you will not object to the court instructing the jury with reference to it," asked Judge Wood.

"No, sir, we can't do that," replied Darrow, "and I am sure that the jury will not be misled by the latitude it allowed the state in this case, but there seems to be no disposition to limit its testimony in any particular as to some great, general conspiracy by the Lord only knows whom."

Beginning with the Cour D'Alene troubles of 1890, Darrow called the court's attention once more to the fact that William D. Haywood at that time had nothing to do with the general organization of the Western Federation of Miners, but was an obscure member of a local union in Silver City, many hundreds of miles from the scene of disorders.

As to the employment of detectives, Darrow declared that most or practically all of the testimony in the case was secured by Pinkerton agents and that it would be impossible to disassociate them and their methods from the issue. Taking up Orchard's crimes, as confessed by him, Darrow said the defendant at bar was compelled, in retaliation of a charge of having murdered Frank Steunenberg, to meet all sorts of conditions of allegations.

CHARGES DETECTIVES.
"The state was allowed through Orchard to bring in something about an alleged attempt to wreck the train of which this defendant was held as the guilty party. Is it immaterial for us to show that the attempt was made by detectives in the employ of the railway company and the mine owners' association? I think not. Neither is it inconsistent for us to show that the men who perpetrated the crime meted out to create an impression or appearance of a train wreck so as to trump up another charge against the Western Federation of Miners."

As to the Bradley explosion claimed by Orchard, Darrow said it was entirely competent to produce testimony that the explosion was caused by gas. It was also the proper course, he said, to show that the vindictive mine incident might have been an accident rather than the result of design.

DEFENDANT'S RIGHTS.
Darrow spent some time in discussing and citing authorities as to the materiality of the evidence showing threats on the part of Orchard against Governor Steunenberg. He declared that if there was any question as to the relevancy of any of the testimony in the case, the doubt should be resolved in favor of the defendant.

Darrow charged the independence depot explosion directly to K. C. Sterling, the detective of the Mine Owners' Association. Three undisputed witnesses, he declared, had told of seeing Orchard "sneak" into Sterling's room at night at least fifteen occasions.

The explosion was a part of the conspiracy, the attorney asserted, of the men who were "engaged in the laudable occupation of driving out every man who had ever shown any sympathy with the Western Federation of Miners, the men who defied sheriffs and courts and set themselves up as the only competent judges."

Sterling sat in the courtroom for a week and was not called, said Darrow, and this he took as an admission of the testimony of three witnesses who saw him so frequently in consultation with Orchard.

"At any rate," he added, "these witnesses have not been arrested, and they are on the word of the most perjured villain who ever came into a courtroom—Harry Orchard."

Arguing as to the competency of the testimony given as to conditions and deportations in Colorado, Darrow held that the defense should be allowed equal latitude with the state.

"A man defending his life," he exclaimed, "should have even a wider latitude than is given to the state in seeking to seal him to his death. We claim the crimes charged against Haywood, Meyer and Pettibone were committed by others and we must be allowed to show evidence which tends to bear us out. All that the mine owners did was to employ men, the defense

SAYS SPURGEON IS NOT FORGER

Accused Solicitor Lacked Intent When Signing Firm's Name Is Court's Decision

Judge Ellsworth decided yesterday afternoon that O. C. Spurgeon had not committed forgery when he indorsed a check for $32 at the Security Bank & Savings Company and had the money transferred to his own account. By this decision the prayer for writ of habeas corpus was granted and Spurgeon was made a free man.

He was arrested several days ago on the complaint of his former employers, Legee & Haskins, where he worked as a solicitor for Alameda county. They accused him of cashing a check made in their favor and appropriating the money for his own use. Spurgeon was tried in the police court and held over to Superior Court. In lieu of bonds he was confined in the county jail.

Attorney M. Shephardson, who ably represented Spurgeon, argued to the court that the check had been indorsed in the presence of the banking clerk, who saw Spurgeon write the name of the Legee & Haskins company, then sign his own name. "This it was claimed was a matter of form in his regular work. Under the terms of the transaction the court found that there had been no intent to forge the name of another. It was suggested by Judge Ellsworth that an action on different lines might be brought against Spurgeon for the recovery of the money, but not to prosecute him criminally."

HEAVY WIND WRECKS RIVER STEAMBOAT

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—A heavy wind preceding a thunderstorm here this afternoon, blew the steamboat "Tennessee," valued at $20,000, against an abutment of the Eads bridge, ripping open the boat's side and sinking it. About fifty rowing boats on board swam ashore and no lives are believed to have been lost.

Police Prevent Joseph O'Claire, Who Says He's King, From Burning Home to 'Keep Out Queen.'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—A citizen notified the Park police station this morning that a man living at 1330 Seventh avenue, in the Sunset district, was acting in a peculiar manner. Policemen Guest and Clark were immediately sent with the patrol wagon to that scene. When they arrived they found Joseph O'Claire spreading matting and straw around his house with three five-gallon cans of coal oil. "The man maintained that he was going to set the house on fire, and the neighbors had seen him go to a nearby grocery store and carry the coal oil to his residence and suspected that something was wrong."

RANDOLPH RESIGNS FROM OAKLAND BASEBALL CLUB

Promising Young Pitcher Says His Arm Is Sore but That He May Return to the Game Next Season.

"Ruby" Randolph, the promising young pitcher of the Oakland baseball club, turned in his resignation as a member of that team to the Oakland Baseball Association at noon today.

Randolph's arm has been sore for some time and he felt that he could do neither the team nor himself justice by continuing in the same and he was told by Manager Van Halten and President Ed Walker of the Oakland Club that he was through.

The pitcher has been offered a position with a railroad company in San Francisco and his father has offered to aid him in a business way. The older Randolph is a wealthy Alameda and he has always been opposed to his son's playing baseball.

Young Randolph was one of the most promising pitchers in the Coast League and had a brilliant future in prospect. This spring, however, he injured his arm slightly and his work was not as good as it was last year.

MACK LIKED HIM.
Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, when he was on the coast last fall, spoke highly of Randolph and the chances were that if Randolph had been able to duplicate his last year's performances this season he would have been gobbled up by Connie Mack.

Randolph says that his present retirement from the game hardly means his permanent withdrawal from the sport. The red-headed twirler will likely be back in the Oakland fold next season, if he is not lured away by another team.

ELKS TO HAVE ORCHESTRA.

When the orchestra has been perfected a concert in conjunction with the Elks' quartet will be given. As Berkeley lacks a playhouse it is planned to have theatrical companies go to Elks' Hall, which is equipped with a large stage to which has recently been added all the necessary scenery.

USE POSTERS IN WAR ON DRINK

Billboards of Chicago Flash Out Awful Pictures of Intemperance.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Billboards bearing pictures portraying the evils of intemperance, have appeared on the west and south sides. The Young People's Christian Temperance Union is behind the scheme. "Capture the billboards and write millions outside, for Christ and the temperance cause," is the keynote of the society, as set forth in an announcement of the new campaign.

Arguments for total abstinence and prohibition are made on the posters by means of the latest cartoons, printed statistics and direct appeal. The general effect is unique and even startling. "Wipe out the liquor traffic and you will wipe out eighty per cent of all crime," is a sentence appearing on the south side billboard, erected at Archer avenue and Nineteenth street. The title is "Personal Liberty and Liberty is pictured draping behind the American flag from a scene showing poverty as the result of saloons."

At 12 North Clark street is a poster entitled "The Real Race Suicide," depicting a home scene, while watching above is a picture representing the saloon. Another is the picture of a hobo. On the telephone pole against which he is leaning are the words "Whiskey, that is all," and Archbishop Ireland's warning "The great cause of poverty is drink."

The billboard movement was formally launched at a meeting in the Ravenswood Presbyterian Church.

CAUSES ARREST OF HIS OWN ACCUSER

Last evening Hayes Rice, a negro stableman at 480 Hobart street, caused the arrest of Rhallon Blaisdell, a hostler, on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. This morning Blaisdell, retaliated by having Rice arrested on a similar charge. Blaisdell is now enjoying his liberty under $600 bonds, while Rice is confined in the city prison. The hearing of both cases was postponed until tomorrow by Police Judge Smith. Rice declares that, after an argument over the contents of a stall in his stable, Blaisdell pulled a revolver and threatened to shoot him. Blaisdell says that before he produced the gun Rice had prepared to strike him with a heavy scantling.

An Off-Color Race Discussion.

Overcharged with the wise conceit and impulsive erudition of youth, the editor of the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat says the editor of THE TRIBUNE is ignorant with respect to the Negro question, particularly so as regards its aspect in the South. An intimate acquaintance with the Negro race in the South and the North before and after emancipation may count for nothing in the eyes of the sapient editor of the Press-Democrat, but the varied experience of more than half a century has to some extent instructed the editor of THE TRIBUNE. At least it has begot tolerance and forbearance, and has impressed the great lesson that there are two or more sides to every question.

Our fresh and exuberant Santa Rosa contemporary construes the assertion that Negroes have an inalienable right to stand equal with other men before the law and have equal opportunities in the competition of life as an argument in favor of miscegenation and social commingling of the races. After distorting a plain statement from its plain meaning, the Press-Democrat editor proceeds to assail his own man of straw, not by logical demonstration, but with a clatter of words. Its remarks are reminiscent of the time when arguments proving slavery to be a moral and economic crime were answered with the question, "Would you like to see your daughter marry a Negro?"

We have not advocated race admixture, and look upon efforts to import social equality into the debate regarding the wisdom and justice of denying the Negroes the full rights of citizenship as unwise and clouding the real issue. Equal rights and opportunities under the law are one thing. Social intercourse and race intermarriage are quite another. When the injustice of depriving the Negro of his natural and constitutional rights is pointed out, persons like the editor of the Press-Democrat reply with a clamor about social equality and intermarriage. The irrelevance of the non sequiter speaks for itself, but a deliberate misrepresentation as a basis for it calls only for rebuke. The charge of ignorance may be passed by, since it is urged by prejudice and inexperience. The editor of the Press-Democrat is to be excused, because he knows nothing of the subject he attempts to discuss and is innocent of knowledge about most other things. He is therefore as positive as he is irrelevant and impertinent.

The chief diversions of the Texans just now are fighting the boll weevil and listening to Joe Bailey roasting his enemies.

A Pittsburg man gave up his seat in a street car to a woman and was killed. If ever some Oakland men give up their seats it will be the woman that drops dead.

Dr Taylor, who has just been made Mayor of San Francisco by grace of District Attorney Langdon, was one of the framers of the charter. That is certainly a recommendation, for perhaps he is the one person able to understand the meaning of that wonderful and complex instrument.

Riddles as a Solace.

After months of dangerous and arduous search in darkest Africa, a scientist who sought to answer some pertinent questions on rainfall sums up his experience by venturing the opinion that the imperturbable calm on the face of the Sphinx is due to the fact that she never tried to find the answers to the riddles of nature, which, in trying to solve, has sent many a good man to his grave.

There is solace in this fact—the fact that there are riddles which would seem incapable of being solved. We of the Pacific coast need this solace. We have been confounded by the comments of outsiders on subjects of state matters and have been perplexed by our own riddles in civic and other topics. There are those at a distance who are worrying over California affairs. It's good for all.

Let's to the solace.

What is gravity? Thousands have gone insane trying to answer it and in trying to disprove it entirely.

What source of heat has the planet Mars? Why is it that this earth gets more heat from the sun than does Mars, and yet that planet has a glorious climate? Our astronomers have settled the fact that the ice-capped mountains of Mars melt and that water flows and clouds rise. But where does the heat come from for that planet? If not from the sun, where from?

No one has yet been able to tell why it is that the island of Papete in the Southern Pacific Ocean has high tide every day at midday and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A wonderful savant has turned gold into silver, but no one has been able to create a magnet that would attract gold.

Perpetual motion, another riddle, caps the climax. Keeler with his motor claimed to have solved it, but he was a fakir. The solving of this riddle would revolutionize the entire world.

And thus there is the solace. It's extended widespread to those who worry about the Japanese situation in California. It's tendered to those who worry enough to attack Secretary Metcalf because he is a Californian. These matters are offered to all those who feel they are perturbed because of conditions in California into which they have injected opinions undeserved by either facts or truths.

Try the solace, meddlers, and perk up.

The treasury reports show that New York leads all other cities in America in the value of her imports and exports, but it will be matter of surprise to a great many to learn that a comparatively small seaport on the Gulf coast stands second in the list. Yet the figures show that the value of the imports and exports passing through Galveston exceeds either Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans or San Francisco. Here is the table for 1906:

|------------------|-----------------|
| 1. New York | $1,480,000,000 |
| 2. Galveston | 251,000,000 |
| 3. Boston | 230,000,000 |
| 4. New Orleans | 217,000,000 |
| 5. Philadelphia | 174,000,000 |
| 6. Baltimore | 145,000,000 |
| 7. San Francisco | 90,000,000 |
| 8. Puget Sound | 68,000,000 |
| 9. Savannah | 66,000,000 |
| 10. Mobile | 28,000,000 |
| 11. Chicago | 25,000,000 |

More than half the nation's foreign commerce passes through New York, but it is significant that the foreign commerce of New

NOT EVEN AN OUNCE.

Orleans and Galveston exceeds that of any other two cities in the United States outside of New York. The reason is that they are nearer the seat of production than the cities of the North Atlantic seaboard and are receiving the bulk of the cotton, grain, flour and packing-house products exported to foreign ports. The shorter down-hill haul is beginning to tell in the trade returns.

In one of the recent issues of a large New York daily great stress is laid upon the fact that a horse-car line is about to be replaced with an electric line. It may be that very soon America's largest Eastern city will be boasting of telephones and bragging about the relegation of paper collars to the era of "what has been."

Whenever there is a surplus in the National Treasury, as there is at the present time, the Democrats with great enthusiasm declare the tariff is a tax. Whenever there is a deficit or a danger of one, they say the tariff is a failure. They are against the Republican tariff in any event. They are unmindful of the fact that Democratic tariffs have uniformly resulted in deficits and soup houses. The surplus that so worried Mr. Cleveland during his first term came from a Republican tariff. He was not worried by a surplus during his second term after a Democratic tariff had been inaugurated, which reminds one of General Grant's famous aphorism that a surplus is easier to handle than a deficit. The difference is a simple one that can be easily applied to domestic economy. It is all plain sailing if your income exceeds your expenses, but there is the devil to pay if your expenses exceed your income. The tremendous significance of this elementary truth appears to make no impression on the Democratic mind.

THE JUMPER DRESS.

Unless this is very carefully planned, however, it is apt to meet with the objection that it does not permit of entire freedom of movement. This is the complaint that so many women make of the draped Japanese bodice, and if objectionable to the more restricted movements of conventional grown-up folk, it would certainly prove a sore trial to the active jumper.

STEINWAY AND OTHER PIANOS VICTOR TALKING MACHINES

A STEINWAY FOR $525

Consider what this means to you! An art creation at a fixed price. Suppose the pictures of the great masters were offered to you on the same basis—tomorrow your home would be an American art center. Yet this Steinway opportunity is a direct parallel. What these famous works are in painting the Steinway is in the art of music—the standard. The price is Steinway's invitation to broader musical culture. It is a concession you haven't a right to expect, but it is in harmony with the other great efforts of the Steinways to elevate American music. The Steinway is really worth twice its price, judged by the commonly accepted piano standards. It is priceless in value, if we judge it in comparison with many so-called first-class pianos, whose makers bid for notice by raising their prices and crying "just as good." In many ways it is the most wonderful piano ever made—in effect, a grand piano in an upright case—the tone-quality and volume of a grand piano, but in half the space. WIDOW WANTS GRAVES OF 4 HUSBANDS KEPT GREEN

Ignores Relatives in Will in Which She Appropriates Her Little Estate for Graveyard Purposes.

READING, Pa., July 18.—The estate of Mrs. Mary Fisher, late of West Leesport, was protested today. She ignored her relatives and left her money to keep the graves of her husbands green.

Mrs. Fisher was married four times, and survived all her husbands. That she made no distinction in their memory is shown by the unusual will, by which she directed that her estate be divided into five shares to go to as many churches, for the care of the graves. The fifth church is one in which Mrs. Fisher had herself interred.

Her estate amounts to $4260.30, which is distributed as follows, each receiving $852.04: Leesport church, where her first husband, Daniel Naragong, is buried; Zion's church, in Perry township, where the second husband, George Hoffman, rests; Moslem church, where the third husband, William Heffner, is interred; Epier's church, where the fourth husband, William Fisher, is buried. The last full share goes to the St. Peter's German Reformed congregation, of Richmond township.

CARE OF TABLECLOTHS.

When not in use, a tablecloth should be kept in folded creases, and when brought out to be spread should be laid on the table and unfolded its entire length, the width being doubled, with the center crease along the center of the table. Then the half breadth that is folded should be turned back and the cloth will hang even. Careless servants often gather up a cloth "anyhow," without taking the trouble to fold it up again in its own creases, and thus fresh ones are made. A tablecloth will keep fresh looking as long again if it is always folded up in its own folds and put away until the next meal, says Woman's Life.

REST FOR THE FEET.

Few women seem to know of the rest that results from changing the shoes as soon as one goes indoors. There are two reasons for resting power produced by changing the shoes; one is that in the street are worn heavier shoes than are required for the house, the other is that a slight difference in shaping permits the pedal cords and muscles to relax. Shoes for the street should never be worn indoors any longer than is necessary to change them.

If ever there is a time when a demand is made upon the physical strength of a woman it is when business occupies her during the day, and in the evening her social diversions. Such women should give at least half an hour each day to complete relaxation. Late in the afternoon is the best time, anywhere from 4:30 to 7. One of the best methods of resting is to take a hot bath and then get into bed, quite as if it were bedtime. If one is only able to spend but ten minutes in bed this treatment will be found wonderfully helpful.

THE SUPERIOR FAMILY

Pop's on the Grand Jury, probing for graft,
And Auntie has gone to the club;
The decks are deserted at home fore and aft,
There's no one but me, Bill and Bub;
My Ma's at the neighbor's for all afternoon,
The fifth of a course of pink teas;
They're playing bridge whist, or they will be right soon,
And we're growing up as we please.

Bub, he crawled up on the top of the shed
And climbed the roof clear to the ridge,
And just as he slipped and fell down on his head
My Mamma was saying "I'll bridge."
A dog jumped at Bill and made fast to his cheek,
And bit out a quite lavish piece,
About the same time Auntie got up to speak
Her piece on the "Lays of Old Greece."

Pop saves the country by probing for graft,
While Auntie grows cultured each day;
And Ma clings to bridge as superior craft
That brings all her wits into play;
But me, Bill and Bub—well, we ain't of much use
Beside of such problems as these;
We can't go along, so they turn us all loose,
And we're growing up as we please.

SONS MUST TAKE WIVES AND REAR FOUR CHILDREN

Six Young Men Forfeit Fortune if They Obey Not Unique Mandate of Paternal Will.

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., July 18.—James Madison, a Butte County cattleman, died recently, leaving a will in which he bequeaths a small fortune to each of his six unmarried sons, on condition that each shall have a wife within two years after the father's death, and a family of not fewer than four children within ten years after his death.

This unique will, which was drawn when Madison was in sound physical and mental health, provides that the property shall be held in trust for the six sons for ten years after Madison's death, and that, at the expiration of that period, it shall be divided equally among those of them who shall have married and become fathers of children in accordance with the provisions of the will.

Any son who shall have failed to marry within two years and to become the father of four children within the ten years will get no part of the big estate.

Madison says that any one who will not assume the duties and responsibilities of raising a family should not be rewarded.

WOMEN RIDE ASTRIDE.

The long riding habit for women is now a back number despite the horror openly expressed by persons of puritanical ideas a few years ago who derided the then unusual custom of riding astride. Women who ride in breeches can be seen in numbers every morning and evening on the bridge path in Central Park and the custom of riding astride is more popular than ever before. A leading riding academy which some months ago refused to teach women to ride astride and stood out for the side-saddle was forced to shut up shop. The owners found that by sticking to their resolve they were simply helping other riding schools. The women have gone a step further than the man's saddle. Many have discarded the divided skirt in favor of riding breeches almost a facsimile of those worn by men, pistol pocket included. The women riders also wear manish coats and derby hats. Indeed, it's a difficult matter to tell who's who on horseback in Central Park these days.

WIFEY NO. 1 HELPS HIM WIN BACK WIFEY NO. 2

Sensational Divorce Suit of Millionaire Settled Out of Court Through Efforts of Former Spouse.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The settling out of court of the difficulties between Norman P. Cummings, millionaire clubman, and Laura C. Cummings, his $1000 wife, was followed today by the announcement that a complete reconciliation in the famous divorce suit had been effected and that Mrs. Anna Cummings, wife No. 1, had acted as peacemaker between her former husband and wife No. 2.

The Cummings divorce suit was one of the most sensational ever brought in Chicago courts. Mr. Cummings was charged with buying his wife from another man for $1000. He was accused of abuse after he had gained possession of her, and, after she had left him, spent thousands in bizarre efforts to win her back.

Mrs. Cummings, it is said, started ten different suits for divorce in addition to the action dismissed today.

DEATHS OF FIVE-YEAR-OLDS ARE MUCH LESS NOW

Children Are Endowed With Native Vitality to Weather Ordinary Conditions of Adversity.

Two centuries ago the percentage of deaths among infants under 5 years was everywhere measurably greater than it is today. It is generally assumed that having reached that age there is a strong probability that a child will reach adolescence, and, after that, manhood. It is now more definitely established than ever that most children enter life with an endowment of native vitality sufficient to weather the ordinary conditions of adversity. Deaths after the first few months are largely due to postnatal influences and to social and economic environment from which the infant has no appeal.

Writing on this subject in the Popular Science Monthly, Dr. George B. Mangold, of the University of Pennsylvania, says that, according to an eminent authority on vital statistics, the annual unnecessary deaths of infants in England during the decade 1851-60 numbered more than 64,000. This leads him to remark: "Probably in no other field of human activity has man's former ignorance been more lamentable in its consequences than in that of rearing children—the future parents of the race."

Great economic and social changes have led to this betterment, and there is no America made much progress. Before 1850, 27 per cent of New York's infants died before reaching the age of 1, and 20 per cent of Boston's.

The statistics of the twelfth census furnish a glowing optimism. The death rate for infants fell from 205 per 1000 in 1890 to 165 in 1900. Favorable environment has had much to do with this decline, and the comparative influence of rural life over urban life is shown by the figures: 116 deaths per 1000 infants in rural districts; against 180 in the cities in 1900.

DEATHS ENORMOUS.

In Germany rural infantile deaths are enormous, surpassing our American cities, which, the writer states, "indicates a social lethargy and backward condition among the agricultural population." In England the rural rate is generally below that of the cities, and the death rate of sons of peers under 6 years of age is less than one-third of that among the rest of the population.

Massachusetts statistics for 1881-90 showed average variations in cities from 111 to 239, the former a residential town, the latter an industrial center. For cities of considerable size the lowest rates are recorded for Seattle, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The rates are about 100 per 1000 births. In numerous southern cities the death rate is almost criminal while in a single city—Boston, in one district, the Black Bay—it is only 94.4 per 1000, against 252.1 for poorer districts. Buffalo, Rochester, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Newark and Jersey City have made notable progress in saving infant life. Better milk inspection, vaccination and increased watchfulness against contagious diseases have contributed to this greatly desired end.

Among colored infants an investigation showed a rural death rate of 218.9 and a city rate of 387. In Charleston it was 419 per 1000, and generally in southern cities more than 300. This, he claims, is barbarism, and calls for serious changes in our methods and policies.

An infant death rate of 307 per 1000 for the Philippines for 1903 is an evidence of an inferior and brutal civilization. Lowering the death rate rather than increasing the birth rate is a physiological advantage which enlightened civilization should follow. Social reform, good environments, sanitary measures, milk inspection and advancing intelligence will do much to still further decrease infant mortality.

"When the best of society's efforts in this direction," says he, "have been realized, then a solid basis for subsequent reasoning concerning the probable future of our race will have been established."—American Review of Reviews.

Daughter of Colorado Multi-Millionaire Miner Says She Is "Just Crazy to Be a Reporter."

DENVER, July 18.—Evelyn Walsh, little Italian girl whose head— the interviewer began.

"I remember," said Miss Walsh. "Her husband almost covered it from her body. O, wasn't it awful!"

Miss Walsh then asked for a "chance." "Just telephone me the next time the editor gives you a murder," she said, "and I'll tell papa and mamma I'm going to town with my automobile to spend the night with Lillian Hurd.

"You know I've always been crazy about the stage, simply crazy to be an actress. But there's nothing to that. A reporter can work up to be an editor. I read about a girl that worked herself up to be an editor."

The reporter gave the promise and now they are waiting until the "next time" comes.

O, I'm just crazy to be a reporter," said Miss Walsh.

"What would you do with the money you earned?" she was asked.

"Why, I'd buy a pretty present for papa."

Then she broke into a merry laugh, and, continuing, said:

"I want to report a murder. Are you ever sent out on murder cases?"

Gracious! The latest development in woman's eccentricity in dress is a broad-brimmed hat trimmed with seaweed, says a correspondent of the New York Press. Not real seaweed, of course, for that would have to be dry to be put on a hat, and dried seaweed is the reverse of pretty. Women in Paris who are adverse to using the plumage of birds on their bonnets and are tired of hats piled with flowers and floppy bows have hit upon the trend of Neptune's garden as a solution of the difficulty. When arranged skillfully in combination with artificial flowers the wee seaweeds have a charming effect.

There is much haste about the construction, as the officials of the engineering department of the Western Pacific say that no time has been set for communication to be established by their road between Marysville and Oroville. There is considerable filling of the ditches done, and it is expected that the work up along the river will be begun on the fills. There is considerable activity all along the line and this week as if it would not be many months before Gould would have trains

WON'T BELIEVE JOHN CHINAMAN

Prospective Jurors Refuse When Asked to Accept Evidence of Orientals.

LOS ANGELES, July 18—A remarkable attempt at securing a jury is being made in the local police court where G. S. Chan, Chinese her doctor, is being prosecuted by the State Board of Medical Examiners for practicing medicine without a license. Three hundred talaishen have been examined to date with but three qualifying, and these three have since been excused by the court for discussing the case and disqualifying themselves. The reason for the lack of competent jurors is very simple, in fact that none of the men summoned would be willing to swear that they would give the same weight to the evidence of a Chinaman under oath as they would to that of a white man. Until three days ago, however, the court had far have answered this question? the affirmative. Today forty more men were brought into court to be examined as prospective jurors. The case has been on for more than a week and the lack of progress is wearing upon the officials of the court. Attorney Bennett, representing the State Medical Board, says that the case will be on to the end of the month though it takes a year to secure a jury.

VALLEJO GROCERS IN TOILS OF THE LAW

VALEBRO, July 16.—The police have inaugurated a crusade against grocery stores where liquor is being sold without a license, and yesterday Olsen and W. J. Corbett were arrested.

The former has demanded a preliminary hearing, pending which he has been released on bail, but Corbett has pleaded guilty and will be sentenced tomorrow.

There are only the first of a large number of arrests which the police declare they are prepared to make and in which they claim to have conclusive evidence.

TOO MUCH TO CARRY.
Senator Hale had been inveighing at a dinner against long speeches. "But, Senator," said a Congressman, "you can't accuse me of ever having made too long a speech, can you?"

Senator Hale smiled.
"Perhaps not," he said; "and again I must say that I am not about the temperance lecturer." No?
"Well, you must know that there was a temperance lecturer in Maine who came to Ellsworth and Maine. He had his hat on from the shoulder at these so-called moderate drinkers and at the end of his remarks an Ellsworth man took him aside and said, 'I am a temperance man.' Look here Jim, I am a moderate drinker, as all the town knows, and to many people it is going to seem as if a good part of your lecture was wasted in the first five minutes. I did want to do it for, Jim." You never saw me with more on board than I could carry."
"What?" said the temperance lecturer.
"You never saw me with a bigger load than I could carry, did you?"
"The lecturer frowned.
"Well, no, I tell you, but have seen you when I thought you have done better to go twice for it,"

Last spring seemed as though I would die, and I was told to 'hadin' Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I haven't been troubled with since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five-cent size. FILE BRIEFS IN OLD WATER SUIT

Another step in the case of the city of Oakland and the Contra Costa Water Company was taken yesterday in the service on the city of the brief of the respondent.

Litigation was begun in March, 1950, on a six-year lease, when the Oakland City Council attempted to fix a water rate on a basis of less than $4,000,000 valuation for the water company's plant. The company contended that the proposed rate was too low and that it should receive pay on this basis.

Judge Hart, of Sacramento, was called to sit in the case, and he upheld the company's contention that its demand was fair and that it is in its appeal that the brief was filed yesterday. The brief contains 737 pages of printed matter.

PRESIDENT SWIFT EXTOLS TRIUMPH OVER BIG PACKERS IN MEAT WAR

Livestock Men Are in Session Commission Firms Who Won Seven Weeks' Battle.

KANSAS CITY, July 18.—Livestock commission firms in the fifteen principal markets of the country, that do an annual business estimated at eight hundred millions of dollars, were represented here today at the opening of the nineteenth annual meeting of the National Livestock Exchange Association.

The national exchange is practically the clearing house for the various local exchanges on all matters relating to the livestock trade and the annual meeting is principally for the exchange of business ideas. James C. Swift of Kansas City, the president, said this morning that as far as he knew no pressing matter was to be taken up at this meeting.

"While we regret," said Mr. Swift, "the passing of the 7c hog, we rejoice that his memory bears no taint of post-mortem. We rejoice that he has left us the 7c steers and the lovely sheep, with his high-priced fleece and strong-selling mutton."

"It is a long cry from organizing to break the so-called tyranny of the buying firms to enlisting the aid of all questionable agents and combining with the packers to fasten a post-mortem collar upon the producing livestock public."

"Great good will come out of this contest, not only a better feeling between customers and commission men, but eventually a better feeling between buyer and seller."

PRESIDENT SWIFT SAYS:

"While we regret the passing of the 7c hog, we rejoice that his memory bears no taint of post-mortem. We rejoice that he has left us the 7c steers and the lovely sheep, with his high-priced fleece and strong-selling mutton."

OAKLAND CLEARING HOUSE WHEAT BRINGS HIGHER PRICES

The bank clearings through the Oakland clearing house for the week ending at noon today amounted to $2,676,788.38.

DEALINGS ARE VERY LIGHT

Wall Street Still Suffering From the Decline of the Day Before.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Opening prices of stocks for the most part pursued the declining tendency in force at the closing last night. Exceptions were St. Paul, with gain of nearly point, and United States Steel a small fraction. Baltimore and Ohio fell 1/4. Otherwise changes were small. The volume of dealings was light.

ADVANCES SHOWN. The desultory support of prices was not long pursued. Small advances were followed by reaction and extreme decline.

ORGANIZE REVELS WITH PRETTY DANCING GIRLS

Newspaperman of Constantinople Gives Damaging Testimony Against Karl Hau, Accused of Murder.

KARLSRUHE, Germany, July 18.—The trial of Karl Hau, formerly professor of Roman law in George Washington University, Washington, D. C., on the charge of having murdered his mother-in-law, Frau Molitor, in Baden, Baden, on November 8 of last year, was resumed today.

Hau appeared as defendant as yesterday. He answered the court by making admissions concerning incidents of which he had hitherto refused to speak. When the presiding judge called the handwriting experts to identify Hau's writing in the dispatch sent from Paris, calling Frau Molitor to that city, Hau, anticipating the testimony, rose and admitted that he wrote the dispatch. The judge inquired whether he sent it off, but Hau declined to answer. He also refused to say whether his wife was aware that this message had been sent.

MAN IN MASK.
Philip Uhlig, a merchant of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, testified that he saw a man on November 16 in the Frankfurt railroad station wearing a false beard and moustache. Judge here asked Hau to put on a similar mask and Uhlig then recognized him as the same man.

Anna Lerch, who left Washington with Mr. and Mrs. Hau in the capacity of a maid servant, testified that when she left London to return to the continent, he cautioned his wife to keep his London address secret. The wife asked if she might write to her mother and Hau replied:

MIDNIGHT REVELS.
C. A. Brattler, a newspaper man of Constantinople, testified that Hau played the role of a man of wealth, spent money lavishly, chartered a yacht, organized revels at the hotel with dancing girls and boasted of his wild life as a student. He claimed to have an immense income and showed a passion for collecting precious stones. Frau Mueller, a sister of Hau's step-mother, testified that she accompanied Hau Sr. to London. Upon hearing of the arrest of Hau she had an interview with him in prison. She found him much altered and in a state of great mental excitement. He gave her the impression of a crazy man. She said to him: "Are you guilty, Karl?"

To this the prisoner answered: "No, I did not do it."

AMATORY ABERRATIONS.
Hau boarded with Frau Mueller while attending the classical preparatory school at Treves. She said he was a good boy and a model student, but that he commenced to show signs of amatory aberrations as soon as he left school. Referring to Hau's elopement with Lina Molitor, the witness said the couple went to Switzerland, where they were visited by Mr. Hau Sr. They soon after ran out of funds and were in despair.

She was informed, the witness continued, that the couple intended to commit suicide and that Hau had shot at his wife, but missed her. Lina then requested Hau to shoot a second time, but his courage failed him. They then planned to end their lives by poisoning, but this project also was abandoned. Upon hearing of his son's trouble, Mr. Hau Sr. decided that the couple must marry, go to America and start life anew. He undertook to assist them financially.

BRINGS JOY TO COUPLE BY QUALIFYING MONGOLIAN

Preacher About to Marry Pair Refuses Until Race Color Is Changed to "Japanese."

By the timely decision of District Attorney Everett J. Brown yesterday afternoon in writing the word Japanese under Mongolian, a great international question was easily settled and the laws of this State and the customs of Japan were upheld to the respect of the contracting parties of a Nipponese wedding. Tashiharu Arimoto, twenty-four years old, and his bride of twenty, Susu Akabani, both well educated Japanese, obtained a marriage license yesterday morning. Deputy County Clerk Fraser, in compliance with the new State law, wrote the word Mongolian after the names of the bride and groom. The law states that one of the four—white, black, mulatto or Mongolian—must be inserted after the names of the parties.

The license was accepted, but the Japanese minister refused to tie the nuptial knot, holding that the members of his parish were not Mongolians, but Japanese. Arimoto, armed with the authority of the preacher, returned to the County Clerk's office to have the Mongolian stricken out and Japanese written instead.

Johnstone consulted the laws on the matter and found he could not make Arimoto's request possible. The matter was next taken up with Chief Deputy District Attorney W. H. Donahue, who used as his authority the Century Dictionary, which defined the Mongolian as a Japanese, Turk, Chinese, Tartar, and several other classes of Asiatic inhabitants.

"Well, we are not Mongolians, but Japanese," said the groom, unwilling to consent to the decision of the authorities.

"I am not a Mongolian, Chinamen are Mongolians," we will not get married," stubbornly argued the pretty little bride-to-be.

The couple next consulted the District Attorney Brown settled the matter by having Deputy County Clerk Fraser write the word Japanese under Mongolian. This made the couple happy and they went off to be united in marital bonds.

This question has been under the advisement of the courts in San Francisco for some time, and the authorities at Washington have taken the matter up when it concerned the school for Mongolians in San Francisco.

Manager Storror Says False Statements Have Been Made About Postal.

San Francisco, July 18, 1907.
Editor TRIBUNE.—Dear Sir: There appeared in yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE such a series of misstatements in regard to the Postal Telegraph Company, that I now ask you to give equal prominence to the accompanying statement showing the wages paid in the San Francisco office of that company at the time of the walkout. Your very truly,

L. W. STORROR, Gen. Supt.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The visit of Labor Commissioner Neill to San Francisco in connection with the telegraphers' strike at that point, affords the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company the opportunity to present its side of the case to Mr. Neill, the public and to the company's employees generally throughout the United States.

The company submits as the strongest possible refutation of the false statements of the striking employees that they have been underpaid, the following summary of its San Francisco main office pay roll for the month of May, the month preceding the strike.

The average wage earned and paid telegraphers who work at the key for the month was $112.52, or at the rate of 44¢ per hour. The highest class men are paid at the rate of $99.00 per month each. These men drew an average pay of $131.00 each for the month, the highest drawing $153.12, the lowest $116.51, the average pay being at the rate of 54¢ per hour worked.

The next grade of telegraphers are rated at $93.00 per month each, and averaged during the month $118.33 each, the maximum pay being $132.44, the minimum $93.00, the average pay per hour worked being 46¢.

PREFERS DASHING CAPTAIN TO PROSAIC ELECTRICIAN

Romantic Escapade of Giddy Wife With an Army Officer Is Enlivened by an Amusing Comedy of Errors.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—A romantic escapade occurred in a fashionable hotel on Eddy street yesterday, and the affair included all the accessories of a successful comedy of errors, from wronged husband, faithless wife, lover, to the hairdresser.

The hero, Captain Julius Purnell, U. S. A., is a son of a wealthy Kentucky family. The woman in the case is Mrs. William M. Ingalls, formerly Miss Josephine Leah Downey of Sacramento, whose beauty is far famed.

After a romance with Captain Purnell by his waves near Monterey, the woman married William M. Ingalls, a well known electrician, high in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company.

Ingalls now says he has had many reasons to suspect that his wife's affection of which he was in doubt, had returned to the dashing captain. On Monday evening when Ingalls returned to their rooms at the Dolores apartments he found the following note:

"Dear Will: It is now 4:30 p. m. and I am going across the bay. If I am asked to dinner I will stay over until 8 o'clock. If not, I will be home about 6:30. Get yourself something to eat meanwhile."

JOSEPHINE.

REGISTERS AT HOTEL.
Mrs. Ingalls did not return at 8 o'clock, and in fact did not come back at all. Ingalls then threw all his wife's belongings out into the hallway, and told himself he was done with her. He could not forget her, though, and finally decided to ask the aid of detectives. They found that his wife had not gone to Oakland, but had gone to the Eddy street hotel. He went to the place and found on the register the signature "Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. J. Purnell."

Ingalls appealed for a warrant for the arrest of the couple, but not being able to produce a marriage certificate, he was refused. He displayed a marriage license, but this was not thought to be enough evidence. They agreed to issue citations, which he declared he would serve. Armed with the papers he returned to the hotel. But the world and hotel clerks love a lover and the employees at the fashionable hostelry didn't believe the claims of the frantic man who ran up and down the corridors looking for his wife. While Ingalls stormed, Captain Purnell, just returned from his duties at the rifle range at Fort Bonita, slipped past him in the hall, and joined Mrs. Ingalls, who was enjoying the luxury of the attentions of a hairdresser.

HAIRDRESSER INSULTED.
But how were they to escape the irate husband? He was there, and the detectives, too, and they said they would not leave until the couple appeared.

Then came the theatrical touch. The pair left the hairdresser in the apartment that they had occupied and escaped to the adjoining rooms through a clothes closet, the door of which they locked after them. The manager of the hotel asked the now furious husband to wait, as he thought his wife was in. "I saw the number of the room on the register," he cried. "They are in No. 2."

So the hotel man opened the door and disclosed the hairdresser sitting in the room and reading calmly. She demanded the reason for the intrusion and the detectives and husband apologized.

FREE OVER BRICK FILL.
Not satisfied that he was not the victim of a plot Ingalls tried to force the doors of the surrounding rooms. The captain meanwhile was preparing to escape through a window opening on a light well and leading to a vacant brick-strewn lot in the rear. The plan was a success and when the couple had fled the detectives and Ingalls were ushered into the vacant apartments. It was night. The siege had lasted all afternoon and the captain and Cupid had won, with the hotel clerks and hairdresser as aids. The former returned to her rooms at the Dolores hotel and the captain returned to Alcatraz, where he is stationed. The former declared that she would never live with her husband again, that she had returned to her former rooms to get her effects and that the events of the last few hours had almost prostrated her.

LOVES THE CAPTAIN.

"I shall go to a sanatorium and then I will leave the country," she said. "I love Captain Purnell and I do not love my husband. If I cannot secure a divorce from him I will live with the captain again. You should see the captain in his uniform! No one could help loving him."

"You are not afraid your husband will do you harm?" was asked.
"Oh, no," she softly said with a laugh. "He thinks too much of me and wouldn't harm a hair of my head unless it was a gray one. He would then gallantly pull it out. But you see, we don't live happily together and what's the use of this daily row? We had better part. Dr. Purnell is an old friend. He simply takes a friendly interest in me. I'm rather expensive in my tastes and my husband don't make enough money to suit me."

Ingalls says if his wife would discard Purnell they could live happily again.

HAS LUXURIOUS WAYS.

"I make $200 a month and have been giving it all to my wife," said he last night. "And her present conduct is my reward. She likes to be served breakfast in bed, and never gets up before 10 o'clock in the morning. If she would stop talking the way she does about affairs we might smooth over this affair."

"Why did I not thrash Purnell when I met him today? He won't fight. If I give him a divorce, he'll have to fight."

Captain Purnell is very reticent, and will not discuss his plans in the matter.

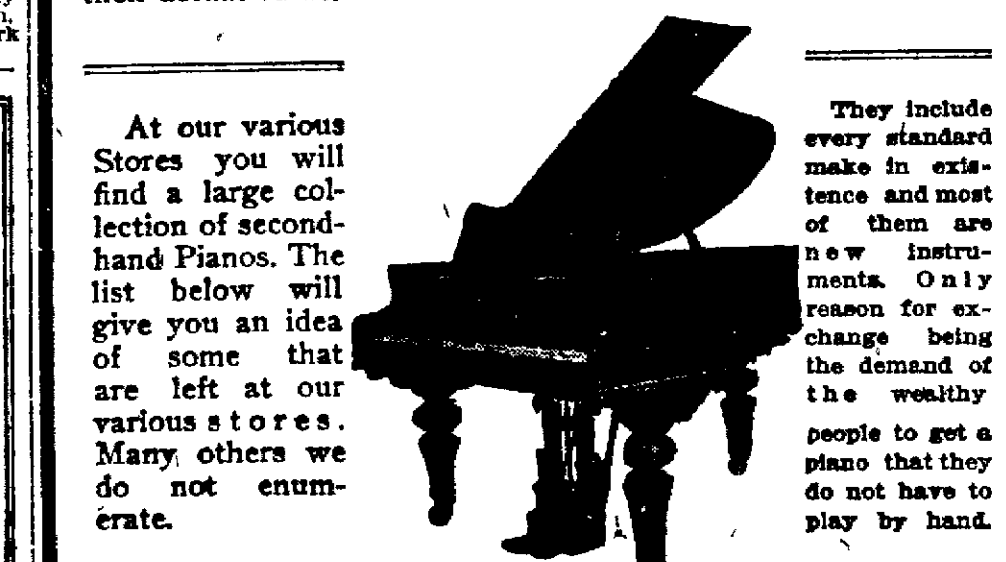

BE THANKFUL.

Don't Miss It! THEY ARE GOING FAST

Twenty Sold at Our Bush Street, and Golden Gate Ave. Stores, Seventeen at Our Oakland Store Yesterday

Do you realize this is a chance of a lifetime? These instruments are put on sale on any terms a reasonable person might suggest and our prices on the instruments taken in exchange as part payment on Heine Piano Players are half their actual value.

At our various Stores you will find a large collection of second-hand Pianos. The list below will give you an idea of some that are left at our various stores. Many others we do not enumerate.

The recent strike, along with the Summer season, has caused a congestion of our stock, that is why we offer a Standard and best made piano in the world, an instrument you would pay five or six hundred dollars for, for less than two hundred and in some cases for less than one hundred and fifty. Cheap makes for $75 and $50. These would be sold new by stores for $150; in other words you save at least one-half by investing in this proposition.

If it is a new piano that you want, remember that we handle twenty different makes; besides being the only manufacturers on the Pacific Coast with factory in the East and we have sold the Heine Piano over twenty years and sold over 25,000 in that time, and we have yet to hear the first complaint of dissatisfaction expressed.

Our guarantee on the Heine Piano means a guarantee for a lifetime.

Remember our terms are your terms.

NEW AMERICAN PROPOSITIONS

United States, Peru and Venezuela Offer Themes at Hague Conference.

THE HAGUE, July 18.—The United States delegation has presented to the peace conference the following proposition:

"If for any reason a captured neutral vessel cannot be tried, the vessel must be released."

The Peruvian delegation has presented this amendment to the American proposition regarding the collection of contractual debts: "The principles established by this proposition cannot be applied to differences arising from contract between the government of one country and the foreign subjects of another, when the contracts provide that these differences must be submitted to the judges of local tribunals."

The Venezuelan delegation presented a declaration on the same subject, making the same objection as Peru, with the addition that in case no contract exists all diplomatic means of reaching an understanding must be tried before recourse is had to the permanent court of arbitration. The Venezuelan declaration ends with these words:

"It is understood that said differences are to be settled through peaceful means without recourse to coercive measures implying the employment of military or naval forces."

CLAIMS MONEY KEPT HIS WIFE TOO SAFE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—John B. Lane, while drinking in the Bonaparte dance hall at 341 Kearney street, about 1:30 this morning alleges that he gave $151 to John Haden, a waiter in the place, for safe keeping. Later on when he asked for his money back the man returned only $31. Lane immediately secured Policeman D. V. Sullivan and returned with him to the hall. After making an investigation, the officer concluded that the man's story was true and took Haden into custody. His name was placed upon the small book, and he will be charged today.

RETURNS FROM SEATTLE.
Mrs. L. C. Marvin has returned from a month's pleasure trip to Seattle and other points of interest in the north, returning by steamer yesterday. Her visit was a most enjoyable one, as she comes back much improved in health from her outing.

BE THANKFUL.
For one crop he thankful
While the season whirls.
Glorious and plenty
Are the summer girls.
